Ensure slabs are stored undercover, without exposure to rain/wet atmospheric conditions.

Ensure slabs are not exposed to direct sunlight.

Sealing

We recommend that all exposed surfaces are sealed with a reputable high quality sealer (such as Lithofin) to protect and prevent surface penetration of oil, grease and water.

Care & Maintenance

Care & Maintenance

Even though our terrazzo is quite robust, there are a few things to keep in mind.

Day-to-Day

Routine, daily maintenance will prevent dirt, dust and other soiling from building up on the surface. Spills, food and other potential staining materials - such as acids like lemon juice, coffee, wine or vinegar, need to be cleaned up within a reasonable period of time.

Recommendations

In order to keep your MAMO terrazzo surfaces looking their best, we recommend you follow and maintain the following tips:

Firstly, we recommend sealing all exposed terrazzo surfaces with a high-quality stone sealer to protect and prevent surface penetration of oil, grease and water.

For interior installations - e.g. kitchen countertops, we recommend sealing periodically once every six months.

For external installations of terrazzo, we recommend sealing the surface once every 12 months.

Highly alkaline, acidic, ammonia based, abrasive cleaners, or bleach may damage the terrazzo surface. Additionally, they may also degrade the sealer, adversely affecting stain repellency.

Always use soft non-abrasive cloths or fabric for the cleaning of your terrazzo surface.

The use of a pH neutral cleaner specifically formulated for stone is the best assurance against harming the terrazzo or degrading any applied sealers.

For interior floors, a PH neutral detergent using a steam mop fitted with a microfibre pad is recommended.

For commercial flooring and commercial flooring cleaners, a PH neutral detergent combined with a suitable bristle brush/ pad for the surface finish of the floor is recommended.
